UPCOMING WEBINARS

	DATE / TIME (UTC) 1ST EVENT	DATE / TIME (UTC) 2ND EVENT	DESCRIPTION	FACILITATOR
Transitioning from MYP to DP	27-Sep-2017 / 22:00	28-Sep-2017 / 11:00	Learn about these five key areas: the articulation between ATL and ATT; ATL in the Middle Years; the challenges of DP subject-specific assessment components and requirements; the stages of language development and the centrality of language in all ATL categories; and the changing role of DP teachers, including the need to infuse ATL into unit planning.	Andrea Vanegas
Help your students develop appropriate extended essay questions	18-Oct-2017 / 22:00	19-Oct-2017 / 11:00	Learn how to successfully advise DP students to devise and develop EE research questions. Focus on how to question students about their ideas and then provide a framework to construct the research question. Particular attention will be paid to specificity; for example, time periods, philosophers, theatrical movements, literary devices and cultural context.	Katie Biela
TOK and international-mindedness beyond the classroom	15-Nov-2017 / 22:00	16-Nov-2017 / 11:00	Gain new strategies to make connections between international-mindedness as a way of thinking and the ways and areas of knowing in TOK. Strategize about how to integrate these concepts seamlessly in and beyond the classroom. Discuss effective ways to support TOK and international-mindedness across the subject areas, including CAS and the EE.	Andrea Vanegas
Clearing a path to a DP education for all learners	13-Dec-2017 / 22:00	14-Dec-2017 / 11:00	Exposing as many students as possible to the DP serves to build stronger foundations for all learners, equipping them with the creative problem-solving skills they will need after secondary school. Explore specific ways to open paths for more students to engage in the DP experience. Consider strategies for recruiting, encouraging and supporting students to choose the DP and models of support and success that encourage an active and flourishing programme.	Alexis Doyle
