

Low-cost option to lift your faculty's teaching practice

Perfect for professional learning communities to share and discuss

Programme-specific content at your fingertips eight times a year

JULY – DECEMBER 2017

Use the IB Webinar pass to boost your teaching practice!

One MYP pass enables your IB faculty to deepen their programme understanding, share new ideas and collaborate, and reach for greater student outcomes in their individual teaching practices.

- Includes access for entire school for upcoming webinars and archives of past webinars.
- This document describes the next 4 webinars. Check www.ibo.org/en/webinars to view other webinar topics as they are scheduled throughout the year.

	DATE / TIME (UTC) 1 ST EVENT	DATE / TIME (UTC) 2 ND EVENT	DESCRIPTION	FACILITATOR
Encourage students to investigate the world beyond our immediate environment, identify connections of our shared humanity and recognize how culture and perspectives influence our thinking. Consider how to engage our hearts and minds in the communication of our ideas in order to facilitate meaningful interactions with others that will enhance our local, national and international communities.
Exploring international-mindedness	6-Sep-2017 / 22:00	7-Sep-2017 / 15:00	Generate and explain the interconnectedness of local, regional and global issues. Identify, collect and analyze the knowledge and evidence required to develop and respond to issues using a variety of international sources, media and languages and considering multiple perspectives. Synthesize collected evidence to construct a multi-faceted perspective on the context of issues or problems.	Lisa Nicholson
Developing rich perspectives	4-Oct-2017 / 22:00	5-Oct-2017 / 15:00	Recognize and articulate beliefs and perspectives on global issues and identify the potential implications of those perspectives. Discuss how the interaction of ideas across cultures and belief systems influence the development of new knowledge to issues. Articulate how the consequences of differential access to knowledge, technology and resources affect quality of life, equity, and influence our perspectives audiences.	Lisa Nicholson
Communicating in an interconnected world	1-Nov-2017 / 22:00	2-Nov-2017 / 15:00	Recognize that the same information can acquire different meanings depending on the context. Begin to understand the value, importance and barriers related to language. Explain how effective communication impacts understanding and collaboration in an interconnected and interdependent world. Select and effectively use appropriate technology, media and resources to communicate with diverse audiences.	Lisa Nicholson
Engaging in principled action	6-Dec-2017 / 22:00	7-Dec-2017 / 15:00	Recognize our capacity to advocate for and contribute to the enhancement of local, regional and international communities. Identify opportunities for personal and collaborative action to respond to issues in meaningful ways, considering implications and potential consequences regarding others. Act creatively and innovatively to make contribution.	Lisa Nicholson

MEET YOUR WEBINAR FACILITATORS

Lisa Nicholson is from Santa Cruz, California and has worked with the MYP as a teacher of history, coordinator, administrator, trainer and workshop developer. She is passionate about kids, a believer in creating challenging inquiry environments that stimulate learning and thinks that being a teacher is the best profession on earth. Currently she is working as the lead facilitator for HOS/IBC teacher support material development and has contributed to many MYP workshops.

Explore these and other archived webinars at any time

- ▶ Making sense of categories and clusters: How to plan for approaches to learning
- ▶ Assessment of learning: Summative
- ▶ How to collaborate across teams to design interdisciplinary units of work